Front-end developer, very excited about the future of online media and collaboration.

PROJECTS

Collaborave.com

Collaborave is an online multi-track audio mixer and recorder based on Backbone.js and the Web Audio Api. Initially built for a recording studio to help streamline the mixing process with remote clients.

NRC CMS

NRC is a content management system I built that utilizes the HTML5 contenteditable attribute and ajax to make changing content on the front-end as simple as point, click, and type. It has the added benefit of keeping the end user out of styling and layout as much as possible.
